

PLATFORM INDEPENDANT PROGRAMS

The creation and detection of steganographic execution patterns

Joseph Hallett

December 2, 2011

Submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Engineering

to the *Department of Computer Science

Faculty of Engineering
University of Bristol*

Contents

Contents	i
List of Figures	i
List of Tables	ii
1 Introduction	1
1.1 Platform Independent Programs	2
1.2 Motivation	3
1.3 Challenge	4
1.4 Summary	5
2 Technical Basis	7
3 Components	9
4 Execution	11
4.1 Implementation	12
4.2 Evaluation	13
5 Conclusion	15
Bibliography	17

List of Figures

List of Tables

INTRODUCTION

In 2010 a team of researchers developed a generalized method for creating platform independent programs[1].

1

1.1. PLATFORM INDEPENDENT PROGRAMS

1.2. MOTIVATION

1.3. CHALLENGE

1.4. SUMMARY

TECHNICAL BASIS

2

COMPONENTS

3

EXECUTION

4

4.1. IMPLEMENTATION

4.2. EVALUATION

CONCLUSION

5

BIBLIOGRAPHY

- [1] Sang Kil Cha, Brian Pak, David Brumley, and Richard Jay Lipton. Platform-independent programs. 2010. Cited on p. 1.